RETENTION AND SCHOOL CULTURES.

JACQUELINE GONZALEZ REYES

With 15 years in education, Jacqueline has built a reputation as an innovative school trailblazer. As a school leader herself, she brings first hand leadership experience in founding and supporting seven startups, from education, nonprofit, and business sectors. In June 2014, Jacqueline was at the forefront of recruiting a student body of 175 to start nine classes, a K-8th school that August. No school building to show, until a week before the first day of school. Fast forward to today, the rented space in the 1912 building still remains the same place 245 students achieve their record high standardized testing scores for a consecutive four years.

Her keynotes and programs are rooted in proven action, practical tools and latest pandemic effects research to propel school leaders to think and act different so that they can lead with utmost confidence.

At age six, Jacqueline witnessed the riots after police officers were acquitted in the beating of Rodney King outside her door. Seeing how injustice can overflow into destructive rage Jacqueline made it her mission to create a life and profession dedicated to strengthen communities through building community and accountability.
